and discreet touches of shine.

Best eveningwear alternative: An off-the-shoulder lamé top paired with matching drop-crotch trousers. So chic.

Back to the tents for Ports 1961. En route, I spy Jessica Biel on a side street—sans JT—sporting a ponytail and an iPod, while waiting for her car service...or perhaps a good script to come along?

Ports began with a performance by Red Baraat Festival!, a dhol (a Punjab drum) and brass band, which was amazing. Note: live music at shows adds so much energy and atmosphere.

Theme: India's Mughal Empire. Think masculine tailoring, ornate details, fitted bodices, dhoti pants, controlled volume
